HELPING OTHERS

Ladies!!!

Alright.

If you are available, please show face and let's do this.

Prayer: Rock of ages, we bless you for your love, care and grace upon our lives. We thank you because your love is immeasurable over us. We appreciate you because you will bless us and our lives will transform generations. For Christ name we pray. Amen

Today, in our quest to find ourselves, we will be looking at something **briefly**

**HELPING OTHERS!**

Generally speaking, everyone is saddled with the responsibility of helping others.

**Serving others, I have come to see, is the way to leadership**

**True leaders are forged in the dark tunnels of serving with backs bent and hands dirty**

However, for the purpose of self awareness, not all of us will be like Jesus who forged the way to life.

Some will be like Peter, John, Paul... Who will support others.

Not everyone will be a Moses, some will be like Aaron and Hur.

Not everyone will further be a Paul, some will be like those numerous names that he mentioned that helped him

That doesn't make the helpers of less importance in the purpose journey. Nop

Our world continually makes it look like we must all be in the forefront, but there are many working behind the scene that are making a lot of difference...

Working behind scene or being the one holding the hands of others is an assignment in itself!!

I tell leaders everytime that one way to learn and grow is to be *assistant* or *vice*

Why, it teaches you humility, patience and proactivity.

Your primary job is probably to make the head look good even when you are the one doing the job.

It teaches you to take the focus off yourself and on another person or the Job.

As you continue in the journey for yourself, also ask yourself *Who can I help?*

Who is already walking in the kind of things that interest me that I can partner with?

You don't have to start your own. † σ

Really.

Even if you don't know what interest you yet, just help everyone around you doing stuff.

Do it like your own!!

It might make you feel like _____ at different times, but it doesn't matter.

That might just be what you have been called to, to help

Now, I am not talking a one-time random help here.

I am talking a *committed helping*

What skill do you have?

How can you use it?

Now, it doesn't mean you will never create, but you can create on the platform of another as much as you are permitted to.

Think about it.

Am I like Aaron that was to simply support Moses?

Am I a Mordecai for an Esther somewhere?

The helps 'ministry' is one that is value in systems, societies and in the world at large.

I wanna stop here now

Any questions?
